

PRAYER WALKING?

Facebook post of 9th February 2021

In recent weeks I have been asked by several people for my thoughts on 'Prayer Walking' - something that had been mentioned to them by other professing Christians.

Then a few days ago I 'happened' upon a young man speaking on TBN UK and he was talking about 'Prayer Walking' and how by doing it people are 'able to change the spiritual climate' and also to 'speak prophetic words' as they encounter people and places.

In some ways this is just an adaptation of aspects of the 'Marches for Jesus' that became 'fashionable' through the 3rd Wave Charismatic Movement of the 1990's and I personally witnessed one such March in Belfast where those participating were told to go out and 'claim the land' rather like Joshua they were told (see Joshua 1:3).

A very helpful book published back in 1993 was 'DO DEMONS RULE YOUR TOWN?' by Mike R Taylor and if you are concerned by this emergence of 'Prayer Walking' thinking then I would recommend the book.

This quote on page 129 really sums up my own feelings on this whole issue and is a fitting conclusion to this short article -

'It is important therefore to realise that the entire concept of 'territorial spirits' is a direct importation into Christianity of a pagan concept. Pagans have no difficulty with the notion of 'territorial spirits'.
